

Navigating the Regulatory Maze – Early Stage Development Strategies

Researchers across the globe face common barriers in translational research that can delay the development of new interventions for patients in need.

This seminar will focus on describing the strategies and benefits of implementing a stage-gate approach in early non clinical development and for Phase 1 clinical development.

Benefits include:

- Clear go no-go decision points
 - Higher probability of success moving from non clinical to clinical phase
 - Clear and favourable exit strategies

Presenter: Dr. Niamh Kinsella

With 20 years of experience from biologics development, Dr. Niamh Kinsella provides tangible and actionable advice to optimise early drug development plans.
